S Corp Formation

Recall that an S Corp formation does not truly exist; rather it is a tax election on an underlying entity. Also keep in mind that without an S corporation election a typical LLC's net business income after expenses will be subjected to 15.3% self-employment tax plus income taxes ranging from 10% to 37%. Yuck! And, a C corporation will have a 21% tax rate plus a possible 23.8% dividend tax rate. Is an S Corp election right for you? What about the S Corporation vs C Corporation debate? Who knows!
